EXAM	EXAM DESCRIPTION	DURATION
Echocardiogram (ECHO)	An echocardiogram is an ultrasound study of the heart. It evaluates the chambers for function, the walls and chambers for size and heart valves to check the blood flow. You will be lying on your left side for the majority of the exam. Results will be relayed to your Health Care Provider after being interpreted by a Physician.	45-60 minutes
Electrocardiogram (ECG)	An electrocardiogram (ECG) is a test that measures the electrical activity of the heart. It involves the placement of electrodes which are small adhesive patches or suction cups that are placed on your chest, arms and legs. There are sensor pads in these patches that record the electrical activity which is recorded, then interpreted by a Physician.	15-20 minutes
Standard Graded Exercise Test *Patient must be able to walk on treadmill	The Standard Exercise Stress Test is a general screening tool used to evaluate the heart's response to graded exercise. At predetermined intervals the exercise will increase and the patient's ECG, blood pressure and heart rate are recorded. The results of the test may help your physician decide if you have heart disease, and if so, how severe it is.	30-45 minutes
Holter Monitor	Holter monitoring enables your Physician to find out how well your heart is keeping its rhythm as you go about your day-to-day activities. Since the monitor continuously records your heart beat over the period of time you wear it, it is suggested that you bathe prior to your first exam visit , as you won't be able to shower or bathe while wearing the monitor. It records on a small digital recorder for subsequent review and analysis.	20-30 minutes
Loop or Event Monitor	A loop monitor is used to record and evaluate infrequent cardiac irregularities. It is usually worn over a period of 2 weeks with the ability to capture data automatically and or patient-activated. This monitor does not record continuously. The simplicity of this monitor allows the patient to remove and bathe and replace sensors.	20-30 minutes
